

Dear MVA Customer,

Town and Country Driving School officially went out of business on December 4, 2014. All of the records present at the school have been transferred to the MVA and are in the process of being catalogued and filed.

Students seeking direction regarding how to complete their training should contact the MVA's Driver Instructional Services Division at 410-787-7769. If the student's records are on file, copies will be mailed to the student's home accompanied by a surety bond claim letter. The bond letter will explain how to make a claim against the school's surety bond to recover financial losses associated with non-completion of the driver education program.

Upon receiving copies of their records, students would then enroll in the school of their choice to complete the program. They then present the records from Town and Country as proof of completion of a portion of the program. The new school will then provide the remainder of the training (for a cost) and certify the student's completion. The new school will make a copy of the records from Town and Country for their files.

The MVA understands the frustration and inconvenience this closure has caused to its customers. We will actively work to assist the impacted individuals to obtain documentation of their completed training and answer any questions that may arise.

Sincerely,

Driver Instructional Services Division
